

9. John Roffler IV House, 1600 SE Sixth Avenue

Directions: From Knapp House make a right turn to NE Sixth and proceed one block to NE Dallas Street. Turn left on Dallas, cross over NE Third Avenue (proceeding south) over Oak Park bridge. Continue for approximately three blocks to first house on right (house with large concrete columns).

In 1920 John Roffler completed work on a fourth home for his family in the Oak Park section of Camas. (The third home was "Roffler's Roost", a smaller home on the same property perched on wooden stilt supports overlooking the Washougal River). John Roffler IV features an impressive portico, which is composed of concrete columns that are similar to the Farrell House. The Roffler IV even has a similar Palladian window. The exterior walls of Roffler IV are made of rough "cast stone" blocks. The John Roffler family lived here until 1929.
